

The Wild Honey Orchestra is more or less the Brian Wilson Band:

Darian Sahanaja / Nick Walusko / Probyn Gregory who all played in the Wondermints

Nelson Bragg (Percussion / Drums)

Derrick Anderson (bass with The Andersons / The Bangles and of course solo artist)

Jim Laspesa (drummer with The Muffs)

Rusty Squeezebox (Baby Lemonade)

Mike Randle (Baby Lemonade)

and Rob Laufer (musical director)

the lead vocals guests come mostly from the Power Pop L.A.scene

REVOLVER PART

And Your Bird Can Sing

Lead Vocals: Mike Viola (The Candy Butchers) and Louise Goffin

Lead Guitar: Chris Stamey

Good Day Sunshine

Lead Vocals: Dan Wilson (from Trip Shakespeare and more successfull Semisonic)

For No One

Lead Vocals: Steve Stanley (from The Now Peaple)

Flugelhorn: Probyn Gregory

Dr Robert

Lead Vocals: Kristian Hoffman (who didn't know the words)

Lead Guitar: Chris Stamey

I Want To Tell You

Lead Vocals: Steve Barton (from Translator)

Paperback Writer (bonus during the same concert)

Lead Vocals: Andrew Sandoval

Rain (bonus during the same concert)

The Muffs

Danny Benair was the original drummer with The Three O'Clock, they reformed the band with Michael Quercio two or three years ago

ABBAY ROAD PART

Come Together

Lead Vocals: John Easdale (from Dramarama)

I Want You (She's So Heavy)

Lead Vocals: Tim Piper with Cosmo Topper - <https://unsigned-records.com/justImagineWebSite/index.html>

You Never Give Me Your Money

Lead Vocals: Morty Coyle (from All Day Sucker)

She Came In Through the Bathroom Window

Lead Vocals: David Goodstein

Her Majesty

Vocals, Guitar: Rob Laufer
mp3 attached

entire White Album posted at blog:

<https://powerpopcriminals.blogspot.com/2019/07/wild-honey-orchestra-friends-tribute-to.html>